

GTbyCitroen

Tuesday, 02 June 2009

Citroen has made plans to produce their GTbyCitroen model into the market. Initially Citroen collaborated with Sony on one of their hit video game series, the Gran Turismo franchise, and they have produced a concept GTbyCitroen car inside the game, which is entirely a virtual vehicle. Nevertheless, Citroen managed to convert virtual reality into a real solid metal car, dubbed as the GTbyCitroen.

Personally, I feel that this particular car is totally out of this world.

You should definitely take a look at the snapshots of this car.
